5. Waste Reduction/Minimization Statement

Nucor Steel – Arkansas produces a wide range of coiled steel products using the electric arc furnace process. This process combines scrap metal along with various scrap substitutes to create liquid steel for casting and rolling steel to customer specifications. In 2012, we produced our steel products with over 65% scrap metal. This kept over 1.5 million tons of metal out of our nation's landfills and provided an outlet for abandoned cars that might otherwise blight our scenic landscape.

One of our waste minimization efforts is the recycling of our dust collected from our electric arc furnace operations. The dust is sent off-site for processing to recover metals for use as raw ingredients by other industries. By recycling this waste stream we are eliminating a waste stream from landfills. Recycling scrap and our dust also reduces the amount of ore needed to be mined for producing metal products. As the largest recycler in America, Nucor is a proud leader in preserving our natural resources for future generations.
